Sunday, Monday and Tuesday Are Big Days for Emmett—Father Loughran, Parish Priest, Honored

Largest Crowd Ever Seen in the Village is Present at Big Doings this Week

Emmett, Sept. 2.—What is believed was the largest crowd ever assembled in this city was present Monday, the second day of the home-coming celebration, being held in honor of Father Loughran who has been pastor of Our Lady of Mt. Carmel church during the past quarter century. Automobiles from Port Huron and other Thumb district cities began arriving at an early hour and by 11 o'clock it was estimated that at least 5,000 people were present. The streets were ablaze with flags and bunting, and shop windows were artistically decorated. Conspicuous in the assemblage was a considerable number of returned soldiers, sailors and marines who, together with the former residents, who have returned from all parts of the country, were honored guests of the occasion.

Peter E. Neaton, one of the speakers of the day, opened the program by giving an eloquent address in which he mentioned the kindly spirit and co-operation existing between the priest and laity. He touched upon several present day problems in their relationship to the church, and mentioned the great part religion has played in the progress of man. He concluded by presenting Fr. Loughran with a $5,000 check on behalf of the parish, in recognition of his long and faithful period of service.

Major Dunnigan Speaks
Among the speakers was Major Patrick R. Dunnigan, former mayor of Lapeer, who was senior chaplain in the army of occupation for several months prior to returning home. Maj. Dunnigan was twice decorated for bravery, and the verbal picture he drew of the part played by American soldiers in the world war, held his audience fascinated for more than an hour. He spoke in glowing terms of individual acts of heroism displayed by soldiers under fire, and told of men fighting for days at a stretch without sleep, and eventually winning out when outnumbered three to one. The speaker stated that he believed that America was on the threshold of a great industrial era. He spoke of the strides made by organized labor during the past few years, but voiced a warning against the union men striking under present unsettled conditions in an effort to enforce their demands. In reference to the crusade against the high cost of living, Major Dunnigan stated that labor could best assist by increasing production, and this, he said, could not happen if workers walked out on every provocation.

When Major Dunnigan had concluded, Wm. Roberts, an old resident of this vicinity presented the chaplain with a painting of himself. Mr. Roberts is an old friend of Major Dunnigan. He was given an ovation upon appearing upon the speaker's platform.

Ideal weather prevailed during the celebration, and greater crowds were present than were expected.

On Tuesday requiem high mass was held in commemoration of those who sleep in the old cemetery two miles east of the city.

During Fr. Loughran's pastorate in Emmett eight young men have gone into priesthood and twenty girls have become sisters. He has an enviable record and is beloved by the whole parish for his kindness and splendid qualifications.

LIKE DIGGING IN TRENCHES

Roy Bricker returned to this city last week after several days spent with his wife at Gaylord. This week Mr. Bricker has been busily engaged excavating for a cellar under the house recently purchased of R. A. Kilgour.

Cellar digging and trench digging are not unlike and as Roy has seen service in the U. S. army overseas, he will undoubtedly do a good job on his cellar. Beginning next Monday, Mr. Bricker will enter the service of the State Savings bank.—Marlette Leader.

HYMENEAL

Announcements were sent to friends on Saturday, August 31, 1919, of the marriage of Marie McNulty, of Yale, to Howard Foster, of Peck.

The ceremony was performed on Saturday morning by Rev. Father Melling in a very quiet, unostentatious manner, only a few witnesses being present.

Mr. and Mrs. Foster left the same day for a lake trip and will receive congratulations from a host of friends upon their return.

Marie McNulty is one of Yale's brightest and most popular young ladies. She received her education at St. Mary's, Notre Dame, and also took a finishing course in elocution at the Chaffee-Noble school in Detroit. She is an accomplished reader and every one loves to hear her recite.

Mr. Foster is a son of James Foster, of Peck, and is cashier in the State Savings Bank.

May the future path of this young couple be blessed with health and prosperity.

The Romance of Tarzan

Those students of modern screencraft in dissecting successful cinema productions to discover the various elements that have been combined to produce entertainment value and box office appeal should find a subject worthy of their keenest attention in the "Romance of Tarzan," which will appear at Princess Theatre, Yale, Tuesday and Wednesday evenings, Sept. 9th and 10th.

This spectacular 7-part film drama presents the concluding chapters of Edgar Rice Burroughs' "Tarzan of the Apes." While retaining all of the picturesque and refreshing novelty of theme that set that production apart from other screen features of the day, "The Romance of Tarzan" offers in addition, a swift-moving plot in which excitement and suspense are deftly woven into natural sequence.

Much is also made of the dramatic contrast between Tarzan's life as white king of the jungle empire and his later adventures when plunged into the complex world of high society. Here the various threads of the narrative are deftly joined to produce an effect that cannot fail to hold the attention of everyone who loves a good story, well told.

Wilfred Lucas, the director of "The Romance of Tarzan," and Bess Meredyth, who prepared the scenario, have made the most of the novel material provided them by Edgar Rice Burroughs. A remarkably effective illusion of reality has been created in the atmospheric handling, while emotional acting of a high order is provided by Cleo Madison in the role of the siren who sets out to entrap Tarzan in her toils, only to find that she loves him too well to carry out her unscrupulous plans.

The largest Sunday crowd to visit Yale in many years was here last Sabbath attending the Menonite campmeeting at the City Park. This annual event is eagerly looked for by members of this denomination, and being a state affair it pulls people from far and near. Certainly our business men ought to appreciate these meetings, as they bring anywhere from eighty to one hundred families to our city for a week's stay, and they spend a lot of money for necessities.

CAMPMEETING CLOSES

The Largest Crowd Ever Is At Every Meeting and Many Seek the Altar

The campmeeting, which has been held in the City Park since Aug. 27, came to a close Wednesday evening, Sept. 3.

This meeting has been one of the most spiritual and successful that this people have held in their history is the opinion of many.

There were in all one hundred tents and many campers on the ground besides those who came daily to the services. The tents in the park presented a beautiful picture and reminded one of that city of God which shall come down.

Much benefit came from this gathering in the associations of the camp, the preaching of the word, and in the numbers who got saved. How many were saved is not known, but over one hundred came to the altar of prayer. Rev. Dave Hill was the preacher of the camp, and he preached the word in power. He had splendid attention from the crowds that thronged the tents and the outside. When we consider how he has been rescued from sin and made a minister, he is surely a marvel of grace.

The financial obligations of the camp were met far beyond expectations by the people who were present.

These people are very grateful to the city of Yale for the use and privileges of the city park and the conveniences, and the reception they receive from the people, and they will not soon forget these favors.

Wm. L. Kelley, of Toronto, has located in Yale and on Monday next will start in the milk business in this city. He has had considerable experience in this line and feels that he can take care of the business to the satisfaction of all concerned. Wm. A. Silverthorn, of Ashland Dairy farm will furnish the milk and cream, and Mr. Kelley will do the delivering. Our citizens should buy their milk and cream of the new dealer and stand back of him and assist in keeping up this important industry. Three Family Re-unions Are Held in this Locality During Past Few Days Enjoyed By All

FIGHT BEGINS NEXT WEEK

The Lansing court which is probing into the high cost of living in that vicinity is doing the same work as that now being carried on in St. Clair county, said Prosecuting Attorney Henry Baird, who has been in Lansing the last few days securing data on the investigation being held there.

"I did notice that the merchants in Lansing are beginning to slash prices," said Mr. Baird. "When we open our investigation again next Wednesday things will be just about ready to start active work against alleged profiteers in the city and county."

"Up to this time, we have been examining persons, who have knowledge of the prices in the city, with the idea of securing data upon which to start real work against alleged combinations and profiteers. The real fight begins next week."

NEWSPAPER POSTAGE UP

While the postage rate on letters and postal cards dropped on July 1st the rate to publishers of newspapers and magazines outside of county circulation was raised considerably. This is the second increase within the last year. The increase will continue on a sliding scale so that in 1921 publishers will be paying an 800 percent increase in postage in certain zones.

This is only one of many reasons why it has been found necessary to raise the subscription price of publications throughout the country.

CONSTITUTIONAL DAY

There is a nation wide movement instituted by patriotic organizations everywhere to celebrate Constitutional Day, September 17th. Michigan must do her share in suitably commemorating this most important event, impressing on all of our citizens the basic principles of our form of government.

An effort should be made in every community to celebrate the above anniversary.

WRESTLING MATCH

The largest crowd yet was present at the wrestling match held at the Auditorium last Friday evening.

The preliminaries were most interesting and exciting. Young Clynne and McCarty furnished a whole lot of fun and showed themselves to be professionals in the wrestling stunt, as also did young Cogley and Halled.

The big event was between Hobart Albertson and Fred Hershey, Albertson winning in two bouts after a tussle of 24 and 26 minutes each.

Clynne won in the first preliminary and Halled in the second.

The Other Fellow's Opinion.

One cannot live unto oneself alone.

Our lives must touch and influence the lives of others.

The opinion formed by fellowmen through such contact can measurably aid or retard progress.

To Help You Win

Riches—power—happiness. The average man places these as his goal. He dreams about having them.

But the average man is slow to take a practical step towards that goal. He is content to dream about it—and never gets there.

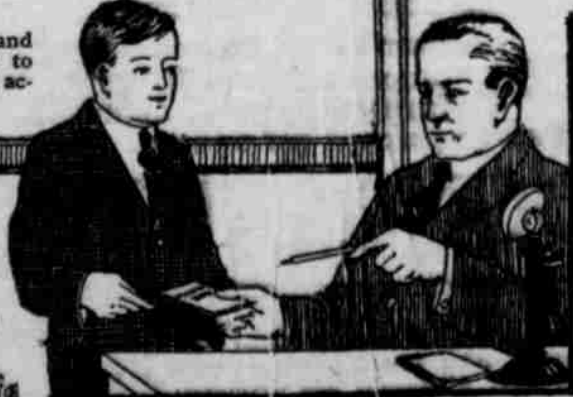

The most practical start is to start a savings account. Rockefeller had to save his first thousand dollars. It earned the rest of his fortune.

Character Earns Credit

Saving men not only have capital for their efforts. In saving, they establish a reputation which will make it easy to secure additional capital when necessary.

A farmer has frequent need for capital if he is striving continually to improve his property. How important it is then that he build up his credit—establish his character.

The easiest and quickest way is to start a savings account.
